Comprehension:

Read the passage carefully and choose the appropriate option of the given questions.

Happy is the man who acquires the habit of reading when he is young. He has secured a life-long source of pleasure, instruction and inspiration. As long as he has his beloved books, he need never feel lonely. He always has a pleasant occupation of leisure moments, so that he need never feel bored. He is the possessor of wealth more precious than gold. Ruskin Bond, the famous writer, calls books "Kings' Treasures" - treasuries filled, not with gold and silver and precious stones, but with riches much more valuable than these - knowledge, noble thoughts and high ideals. Poor indeed is the man who does not read and empty is his life. The blessings which the reading habit confers on its possessors are many, provided we choose the right kind of books. We can choose the books according to our taste. There are many noble books on history, biography, philosophy, religion, travel and science which we ought to read, and which will give us pleasure as well as education.

Books are the most faithful friends. Our friends may change, or die; but our books are always patiently waiting to talk to us. They are the most lasting product of human effort. Temples crumble into ruin, pictures and statues decay and over the period of time, books are destroyed by termites but the thoughts are survived for infinite generations. These thoughts speak to us through the printed page. Time does not destroy the great thoughts which are as fresh today as when they first passed through their author's mind. With the changing demands of time, some products are obsoleted and are replaced by more productive ones which are forgotten by the public after sometime. But the books whether popular or not, live forever in the minds. Literature preserves the cultural, social and political history of any nation. All these aspects were written in the form of prose, poetry etc. People read them not only for entertainment but also for motivation and inspiration to make their life smooth. Books always helped man in various spheres of life irrespective of any return. No wonder that the world keeps its books with utmost care and a reader becomes a 'book-lover'.
